STATE EXECUTIVES HOLD CONVENTION

Third Annual Conference of Governors Begins Five Days' Session at Frankfort, Ky.

GOV. SPRY IS AMONG THEM

Gov. Wilson of Kentucky Makes It Plain That It Is Not a Political Gathering.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 29 .- The third annual conference of governors began a five days' session here today with 24 state executives present. For everal days Gov. Willson of Kentucky has made it plain that he would do all in his power to eliminate politics from the conference, but at the first session today there were two outbursts of political enthusiasm, One was when Gov. Judson Harmon of Ohio entered Gov. Judson Flating of Order and State the half. He was greeted by a slight handclapping, which was accorded no other governor. The moment the meeting adjourned a man in the gallery called for Mr. Harmon.

lery called for Mr, Harmon.

With a frown, Gov. Willson raised his hand and stopped the proposed demonstration. He said such a suggestion was entirely out of place and would not be tolerated. He had alwould not be tolerated. The land when in his opening remarks he said the governors were called together for a conference only, and it was not a "house of governors." as previous meetings had been termed.

TAFT SENDS REGRETS.

Gov. Willson then read a letter from President Taft, regretting his sence, in which he said:

sence, in which he said:
"I have great sympathy with the objects of your meeting, which I understand to be for the general national welfare by uniformity of state legislation upon subjects having general na-tional interest, which are not by the Constitution intrusted to the Congress and the central government. I wish for your meeting the most successful issue in substantial results."

Gov. Aram J. Pothier of Rhode Island responded to the welcoming addresses, after which the visiting party and several leading Kentuckians entertained at luncheon were entertained at later session, Gov-private home. At a later session, Gov-ernor-elect Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey delivered an address on "The Possibilities of the Governors' Con-dominate whatever they chose.

"A new problem was presented to us. We still did not desire rigid uniformity of law, even in these matters of common concern. It was still de sirable that the states adapt their regustrable that the states anapt their regulation of the new forces to their own conditions. To put federal law back of the great corporations would have been to give them the right to dominate and override local conditions, to equip them with the majesty and supermove of the law which created and premacy of the law which created and regulated them, and to level the variety communities before them.

'No absolute uniform set of rules are likely to fit the infinitely various cir-cumstances of the states and their people. Hence this conference.
"We have no foolish or pedantic jealousy of federal power. But we do not believe the intervention of federal power either necessary or desirable. We are not attempting a task of media-tion; neither are we trying to fend off ought not to allow ourselves to be pendants, stickling at words and phrases. We ought to deal with realities, and deal with them frankly. Let us distinguish local power from per-sonal influence, the two things ought to be easily distinguishable. "I am sure that I am not mistaken when I say that the people are calling for open leadership and that they wish their leaders to be men who repre-sent them all. Them are tired of the hide and seek legislation as it has genorally been conducted. We shall not bring clear action out of confusion un-til we assist at the simplification that will inevitably come when some one man undertakes in each state to keen the people informed as to every chief step of their business, particularly the business of legislation, and to challenge who are engaged in it to submit o the frank and clarifying process of states efficient instruments in the regulation of economic conditions. It is the problem of railway regulation and of the regulation of the many other vast corporations. This is in no sense a private matter. Our corporations are not dealing with individuals so much as with communities. If those who con-duct them would look in their business from that noint of view and conduct themselves in the temper and spirit of public servants, there would be no need of regulation.

"So long as they do not, so long as they transact their business in the scott of those who manage private affairs, for private gains and not for public service, regulation will be neces-

There is, first, the task of regulation; for that we seek common principles, common idea and aims, at the same them in counsel together common dea and anishing that these com-time that we recognize that these com-mon principles must be put into effect in our several states in somewhat dif-ferent ways, in order to serve local needs. We need co-operation but can wear no straight tacket. "The task of right regulation, in the case of common carriers, is one in which we must co-operate with one another and with the federal authorities. Lame back comes on suddenly and is extremely painful. It is caused by rheumatism of the muscles. Quick relief is afforded by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. Sold by all deal-

NEW YORK LEGISLATURE GRAFT INVESTIGATION

New York, Nov. 29.—The legislative graft investigating committee turned its attentions again today to the charges that a $50,000 boodle fund was raised to defeat the anti-race track bill. Subpoenass were issued for Secretaries Jas. R. Keene and Harry Payne Whitney, August Belmont has been subpoenaed. Whitney's secretary. Thomas J. Regan, testified that Mr. Whitney was motoring in the south of France. He promised to cable Mr. Whitney that the committee was anxious to see him. Mr. Keene is also in Europe, Cornell Hendrix, his secretary, said Hendrix promised to notify Mr. Keene by cable that the committee wanted his testimony.

Senator Francis H. Gates, the first witness, denied that he had been approached by representatives of the tracks.

Victor A. Shaunberg, secretary of the Coney Island Jockey club, said $25,000 was spent by the club for legal expenses in 1908.

WHILE IT IS ABSOLUTELY ESSENTIAL

ESSENTIAL

To have select wheat to make the best flour, it does not necessarily follow that all select wheat is made into the best flour. It is just as essential TO USE CADE IN

TO USE CARE IN

The Making.

A carcless miller of an improperly equipped mill will spoil the best wheat. You take none of these chances in using White Fawn Flour. It is the STANIARD of evenlones. It is the STANDARD of excellence, SALT LAKE & JORDAN MILL & ELEVATOR COMPANY,

Lump Coal

COSTS US $4.50 PER TON. We pay the teamster 75c in eash for hauling it from our coal yard to your home, This leaves us $1.00. Out of this we pay taxes, rent for yard and office, salaries for yard and office thelp, city, state and federal license (corporation tax) advertising and a few other bills. With what is left we usually visit Monte Carlo and other European points once each year. Also we hulld business blocks
